the choir quartette and a number of short addresses, none of which are to be more than five minutes in length.

Engineers, representing Boston capitalists, have been at Blewett Falls this week inspecting the works there for the purpose of reporting upon them as an investment. The president of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, of New York, will, we learn, also visit the Falls next week on the same errand.

Mr. Robert Singleton, who has been a resident of Wadesboro nearly ever since the silk mill was located here, but who has been superintendent of a mill in Augusta, Ga., for some time, will move his family to the latter place at an early day. Mr. Charles Uren will move into the residence, on Carr's Mount, as soon as it is vacated by Mr. Singleton.

Sunday, a telegram was received here announcing the death, that morning, in Washington, of Eugenia, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Horton, Jr., of that city. The child, whose death was caused by pneumonia, was a grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gaddy, of Cedar Hill, and a niece of Mr. I. H. Horton, of this place.
